Medical Reports

Scott Devens—It's good to see Scott back on the courts. He injured his Achilles tendon in the early part of the year. He intends to take it easy for awhile.

John Hogue—John was on the shelf with a bad back. It was reported here that his back injury was due to his carrying his partner in doubles for a number of years. Pressure from his partner, whose name will be kept secret, forces this editor to retract this statement. A technicality in not knowing the exact number of years that John carried his partner forces me to yield to this demand. Anyway, it's good to see John back on the courts.

Picnic Round Robin

Dimas does it again, not only for our regular membership, but also for our friends from the Cypress Tennis Club, Tennis Friends Club, and the Pico Rivera Tennis Club. He labored behind his mobile grill with Ron Martin to prepare enough chicken and carne asada for everyone in attendance. This was by far the largest group we have ever had for our Picnic Round Robin. As good as his tennis game is, it pales in comparison to his ability to prepare a tasty dish of carne asada. He is definitely a 5-Star Chef! He is lucky though to have someone like Ron Martin as his assistant chef. As usual Diane Bote and Nik Bote helped in taking care of the large turn out.

We had a large turn out of players. It was tough to get them all into the 10 courts available to us. Scott, Susan, Dave, and Donna Webster did an outstanding job of getting the players onto the courts under the circumstances.

It was good to see Rosemary and Armando come by and visit for awhile. They now live in Bullhead City. Although Rosemary has had some health problems, she hasn't lost her captivating smile. She looked great and I'll say it for everyone, we miss you Rosemary, you too Armando. You come back and visit with us. Next year our Picnic Round Robin will be on June 10, 2006.

It was nice to see Marilyn Prigge. She has been out with an injury, but it hasn't dampened her spirit or willingness to support club activities. When I see a turnout like this it makes all the planning and work that goes into this event worth the effort.

Han Nguyen—Han Nguyen is still recovering from a broken leg. It will be some time before he gets back to playing. He is now able to at least drive his car. We hope to see him back on the courts.

Jim Lockhart—This guy truly has nine lives. His latest episode was an angioplasty procedure. A regular checkup with his doctor revealed that he had serious blockage in his arteries. He's recovered from the angioplasty procedure and is now on the courts playing tennis. It's good to see him doing well.

Kenny Hachiya—Ken has had eye surgery on one eye. He expects to have eye surgery on his other eye soon. Because of this surgery he has a problem when focusing on the ball. He is not deterred and you can see him hitting the backboard. It will be some time before he can be competitive. It is good to see him come down on weekends.

Juan Diaz—I don't know about the rest of you, but I miss Juan. Maybe it's the usual arguments over the line calls. If anyone knows where he is, let us know.
